sland tracks, while twice that number will soon be headed this way.

The Eastern season will open at Pimlico on April 24 with an attractive meeting which will continue until May 12. Then will come the opening of the metropolitan campaign at Belmont Park on May 13. which will with meetings held at Gravesend or Aqueduct (whichever track the Brooklyn Jockey Club selects for a spring meeting); Sheeps ead Bay, Empire City and Saratoga. Meanwhile there will be racing in Kentucky, at Latonia, Louisville and Lexington in all probability, while the progressive Canadian promoters have mapped out a campaign for Montreal, Toronto, Fort Erie, Windsor, Hamilton and other points. By taking it for granted that there will be more racing on the metropolitan tracks in the fail, it can be seen that there will be as much sport for the horsemen to indulge in as formerly, though purses and stakes will not ditions under which the various meetings in this country will be conducted. Open bookmaking will prevail at Pimlico chines will be used in Kentucky exclusively unless the Latonia Jockey Club succeeds in its legal fight to restore the system of booking on the old lines. There will be no bookmaking, however, on the New York. tracks, but from present indications there will be little or no interference with individual speculation. When several important points have been settled by the courts and some decisions are looked for soonit is believed that the county authorities be much better informed as to the requirements of the Agnew-Hart law than they were last year. The popularity of racing therefore depends almost wholly upon the ability of the public to bet on the horses without fear of arrest, and if there is comparatively plain sailing it is predicted that the metropolitan tracks will soon be able to get on their feet.

forced last year," said a racetrack lawyer yesterday, "there is every reason to believe that mistakes were made which cannot be repeated. I do not believe that the for mer persecution of racetrack regulars will violators of the law who were arrested. searched, indicted and released on bail in this State last season not one has been convicted, and 1 am reliably informed few will ever be brought to trial because of a general lack of sevidence. The fact that various court rulings have shown that it is legal to make oral wagers, to accept them without fimit, to display odds and sell advance information, and that for a man to make a private memorandum of his own wager is not an infraction of the law, cannot be ignored by the county authorities unless, in some cases, they are prompted by other motives. The Agnew-Hart law prohibits bookmaking, which has been defined as 'the act of accepting and recording wagers as a business.' Just as long as men who accept wagers do not record them there is no way in which they can be convicted of bookmaking, and for that reason there can be no iurther trouble. The law does not apply to the actions of the bettor and when it comes down to cases you'll find that the bettor can record his own transactions and in that way business at the track can be pretty safely controlled. Eminent legal authorities say that a law interfering with the rights of an individual would be unconstitutional and that the Legislature would never attempt to pass such a measure.

"Summing it up, the business of raceof evidence. The fact that various to undergo a compete change. Dotamaking is dead and can never be revived.
But individual betting, at present in its infancy, will soon become so well understood will not bring back the objectionable features that caused all the trouble."

Superb weather brought the trainers and their horses out early at Gravesend and Sheepshead Bay yesterday morning. The tracks were in splendid condition and some brisk work was indulged in. Many

NARGANES AGAIN CHAMPION. New York A. C. Man Wins 158 Pound

Title, Showing Great Form. The final bouts of the National A. A. U. wrestling championships at Brown's Gymof excitement, especially in the 158 pound class. In the semi-final of this class Fred A. Narganes of the New York A. C. met Martin Luedeck of the Educational Alliance A. A., and it was the closest grappling perhaps ever seen for an amateur title. After six minutes the referee could not decide, and all the time the men hugged each other six minutes the referee could not decide, and all the time the men hugged each other in an upright poeition around the mat.

Three minutes more were ordered, but no fall resulted and another bout of three minutes had to be wrestled, but when 2 minutes had to be wrestled, but when 2 minutes 32 2-5 seconds of this session had been exhausted Narganes three wis opponent with a half Nelson. Narganes met Priesland of the Norwegian Turn Verein in the final and the New York A. C. man won with a double arm hold in five minutes.

There was some rough work in the 125 pound class, the men to supply the sinews of battle being Louis Ruggiero and P. Mandello, both of the Grace A. C. Ruggiero slamment his man hard against the floor and the back/of Mandello's head got such a bang that he went into dreamland for a time. He was taken away unconscious, but it was afterward stated that the dootrs brought him around all right.

The Quickest final of the night was when into decided. In the last, however, Crane made a hard try.

Tom Pettitt, the professional, said the champion was about half fifteen better than deany better than did today. He also said that Crane gave the dearwhine she time the last in defending the oppoints. In the first set when Gould had the score 5 to 3, after taking four straight games. Crane made in technique gould had the score 5 to 3, after taking four straight games. Crane made in the nich score that fine rally in the ninth and tenth games. In the eleventh games, the head in the nich score two non some easy returns and hit into the net.

In the second set Gould's play fell off decidedly. There was some good volleying and the champion showed a fine floor game, while his opponent played well and took the next three, lost the eighth game, but wo out in the ninth.

The third and fourth sets went easily to the worker, who was always in the lead. In the last, however, Crane made a hard try with the latter playing as he did to-day, He also said that Crane gave the dear the floor population. such a bang that he went into dreamland for a time. He was taken away unconscious, but it was afterward stated that the doctors brought him around all right.

The quickest final of the night was when the All took the New Jersey lad exactly 46 seconds to floor the Harlemite. Bauer won the title last year.

By far the most surprised man of the night was lee J. Talbot, the Cornell harmer thrower, who represented the Irish A. A. C. He met Emery Payne of the New West Side A. C., and the Cornellian went at his man with a smile of confidence and the big men fiddled around for a while. Then Talbott got a mighty grip on Payne and the Irish representative saw the title coming his way.

VARIOUS CONDITIONS THAT

MAKE FOR THIS. Little Craft More Easily Handled by Owners, and Furthermore Financial Shertness Makes It Neces Yachtsmen Net to Build Lavishly.

The yachting outlook just now is exeedingly good and every yard is busy preparing vessels for coming cruises and races. Work on new craft is being pushed along fast so that the boats may be delivered before the opening of the season on Decoration Day. It looks as though this would be a year of small boat racing. There have been few large yachts built for racing, the largest being a 60 foot schooner at Lawley's for Commodore Doug les and a 46 foot sloop at Herresheff's for a member of the New York Yacht Club. The changes made in the rating rules probably are responsible for yachtsmen not building this winter, although the recent trade depression had great effect on the Roussau sport. Those yachtsmen who often race large yachts kept expenses down and will have small ones this year. Small boat racing has become more and nore popular of late years, and yachtsmen fun as far as racing is concerned in an 18 Diaz ooter as they can in a 50 footer, and one vachtsman recently remarked: "In a small boat I have only myself to blame for errors, while in a large one I can blame the skipper

The Harlem and Indian Harbor Club on the Sound and the Atlantic Club down the bay have arranged for races on Decoration Day to start the season, and those yachtsmen who have their boats ready by that time will pick up some prizes. On the Sound and down the bay there will be open regattas during the season each Satur-day and each holiday, and these races will count for the championships of those two associations. On the Sound the 32 27 foot and classes below these will fill well in all regattas, and the special classes too of the small size will furnish good sport. The handicap classes still are growing and the four divisions promise to be as popular as ever. Two new boats are being built for the 38 foot class to meet the Dorello last season's crack. These are from designs Other by Henry J. Gielow and William Gardner. as it promises to grow. In the next class above will be the new Herreshoff boat, but just what this yacht will race against is not

On the lower bay there has been a boom in the sailing dingy class of the New York Canoe Club and seventcen of these small craft will take part in the season's sport and compete for championship honors. The Gravesend dories, about a dozen of them, will be out and then there will be the two divisions of the handicap class, but owners of larger boats that have sailed down the bay are at present undecided what to do back, will not be in commission as there is nothing to race against. The Soya, Spider and Joy may meet again and continue the fights for which that class has become famous. The old S class will be out again annual cruise. Off Newport the races for the Astor and King's cups will be sailed and then the fleet will proceed to Vineyard Haven, Portland and Bar Harbor.

On the Sound several special races have been arranged. The Manhasset Bay Yacht Club will have a race to and around Cornfield lightship for a cup offered by Howard Gould. This is for yachts 40 feet rating and under. The New York Athletic-Club will have its annual race to Block Island for yachts 30 feet and under. The Harlem Yacht Club, the New Rochelle club and others have announced races to Stratford Shoals and other distant points, and there is a probability of the Indian Harbor and Seawanhaka -Corinthian Yacht clubs arranging a two days cruise from Greenwich to New London. The Larchmont Yacht Club will have its usual race week and later in the year a race for the schooner cup. The club's annual regatta will be sailed on July 4.

There will be sailed on July 4.

There will be a race for the Manhasset Bay challenge cup, which is held by the Indian Harbor Club and for which the American Yacht Club has challenged. There will also be a race later in the season for the Corinthian cup, which is for all yachts 33 feet and under in one class. This cup stands for the championship of the Sound for small boats. A similar race has been arranged by the Crescent Athletic Club for the yachts of the lower bay. This race will be sailed in September and the prize is a cup offered by Commodore F. M. Wilson.

The motor boat men will be busy. There is the race to Bermuda starting on June 5. The Crescent Athletic Club will start the annual race to Marhiehead on July 17 from off Bay Ridge. The New York Athletic Club will have a race to Flock Island. There is to be a race from Albany to New York in July and several other long distance races are being planned.

The most immortant yachting event of the Season will be the race of the Sonder class boats off Marhiehead. Germat, yachtsmen are to visit the Eastern Yacht Club with three boats and to race against three to represent this
